PREFACE

Welcome to the second volume of Journal of Techno-Social. As a relatively new journal, let me refresh your memory pertaining to it. The Journal of Techno-Social is biannually, peer reviewed journal that addresses both applied and theoretical issues. The scope encompasses research articles, reviews and commentaries, etc. in social sciences particularly those relating to man, environment, science and technology in the context of sustainability and globalization. The main purpose of this journal is to bridge the diverse and multi-disciplinary nature of social sciences into a common focus on man, environment and technology.

Initially, members of the Editorial Board comprise of university lecturers from five universities in Malaysia, vis-à-vis International Islamic University Malaysia, University of Sciences Malaysia, University of Technology Malaysia, University of Malaysia Kelantan and University of Tun Hussein Onn Malaysia. This composition however, will be increased and interested parties nationally and internationally are much appreciated and welcome to participate.

Articles in both Bahasa Melayu and English are acceptable. In this issue the topics covered are on quality of life and affordability; ICT; facility management; virtual management; student perception on different layout of computer laboratory and community attitude towards recycling program in Johor.

Hopefully you will enjoy reading the articles and enhance your knowledge in the areas of your interest.

Regards.
